SUNDAY COLLECT

O God, whose providence in the ordering of all things never fails; we humbly beseech Thee to put away from us all harmful things, and to give us those which are profitable for us. Through our Lord.

SUNDAY EPISTLE: Romans 6: 19-23

Brethren : I speak a human thing, because of the infirmity of your flesh; for as you have yielded your members to serve uncleanness and iniquity unto iniquity, so now yield your members to serve justice unto sanctification. For when you were the servants of sin, you were free from justice. What fruit therefore had you then in those things, of which you are now ashamed? For the end of them is death. But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, you have your fruit unto sanctification, and the end life everlasting. For the wages of sin is death. But the grace of God is life everlasting; in Christ Jesus our Lord.

SUNDAY GOSPEL: St. Matthew 7: 15-21

At that time, Jesus said to His disciples: Beware of false prophets, who come to you in the clothing of sheep, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. By their fruits you shall know them. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and the evil tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can an evil tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit shall be cut down, and shall be cast into the fire. Wherefore by their fruits you shall know them. Not every one that saith to Me: Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of My Father who is in heaven, he shall enter into the kingdom of heaven.

PARISH ANNOUNCEMENTS

- ❖ Daily Mass Stipend Hold: Please note that the priests at Mater Misericordie Mission have a sufficient number of stipends to fulfill at this time.
- ❖ Pro-Life Rosary: Fr. Lee and Fr. Kemna would like to continue Fr. Terra and Fr. Walker's steadfast practice of praying outside the abortion clinic on Monday and Thursday mornings. Please join us if you are able to attend. The Rosary will be from 9am-10am at the Glendale Planned Parenthood site located at 5771 W. Eugie.
- ❖ Parish Directory: All families and single members that regularly attend the Mission are encouraged to participate, so that our parish can have more coherency, and so that the members can get to know each other better. There is a form for this in the back of the church, along with the Parish Registration Form. If you are interested and are a regular parishioner, please follow the instructions on the form. The Knights of Columbus of our parish are taking over this project for Fr. Kenneth Walker +.
- ❖ First Saturday Breakfast: The Knights of Columbus will be serving breakfast following the 8am Mass and First Saturday devotions on Saturday, August 2. Everyone is invited to enjoy the meal.
- ❖ Knight at the Ballpark: The Knights of Columbus of our parish will host a "Knight at the Ballpark" on August 30th at 5:10 PM when the Arizona Diamondbacks play the Colorado Rockies. The seating will be together in an Upper Level Infield section. The tickets are available for a reduced rate of $14 per seat. Please contact Ted Brennan at 602-882-3838 by August 10th to place your order.
- ❖ Men's BBQ: There will be a BBQ for the men of the parish Saturday, August 2 at 7:00 PM at the church hall. Ages for this event are 21 years and older. Please note that you must provide your own meat to cook and beverage to drink.
- ❖ MMM Game Day: Father Lee would like to welcome the children of the parish, ages 6-12, to play games and have a snack from 2-4pm on Saturday, August 2 at the parish hall. We will finish with a short prayer in the church and a blessing. Snacks and drinks will be provided. Young people older than 12 years are welcome to come and help Father Lee. For more details, please contact Elijah at emundattuchundayil@yahoo.com.
- ❖ Book Seminar: Father Lee is gauging interest in a seminar to meet the evening of Saturday, August 9. The work to be prepared for discussion is Josef Pieper's Leisure: The Basis of Culture. Please contact Father Lee for more details.
- ❖ Church Safety: Father Lee met with the Homeland Defense Bureau for the third time this week and visited with a fourth alarm system company for a price estimate. We are continuing to explore various options to ensure safety for all of our parish members, both priests and parishioners alike.

A Few Words with Fr. Lee

For those who are able, the summer season provides an opportunity to step away from our usual work routine for a little relaxation. A true hiatus from work provides a leisurely freedom to devote ourselves to carefree activities that we can simply enjoy, without any obligation or sense of utility.

This need is especially necessary for those of us in the United States who are known throughout the world for our efficiency. Americans love to develop skills and tools that facilitate utility and "getting the job done." We must watch that this is not done at the expense of simple pleasures and spiritual goods that God offers to us on the natural and supernatural levels respectively.

Although family vacations are ideally restful, they are often exhausting logistical endeavours, especially for the parents. Although parents offer up this sacrifice for their children and the memories they will hold, even these times provide a time away from work and the daily grind. With a little quiet time, this may still prove to be an occasion to obtain a new perspective and therefore different ways to consider and approach aspects of usual daily living.

Taking time out to learn and appreciate the good and beautiful in this life, whether the context is a game, a good conversation with friends, a natural wonder or a quiet church, is praiseworthy and a slight foretaste of the joys that our good God has prepared for those who love Him in Heaven.

Excerpt from the Spiritual Exercises of Saint Ignatius of Loyola SCRUPLES AND PERSUASIONS OF OUR ENEMY

First Note. The first: They commonly call a scruple what proceeds from our own judgment and freedom: that is to say, when I freely decide that that is sin which is not sin, as when it happens that after some one has accidentally stepped on a cross of straw, he decides with his own judgment that he has sinned. This is properly an erroneous judgment and not a real scruple.

Second Note. The second: After I have stepped on that cross, or after I have thought or said or done some other thing, there comes to me a thought from without that I have sinned, and on the other hand it appears to me that I have not sinned; still I feel disturbance in this; that is to say, in as much as I doubt and in as much as I do not doubt.

That is a real scruple and temptation which the enemy sets.

Third Note. The third: The first scruple -- of the first note -- is much to be abhorred, because it is all error; but the second -- of the second note -- for some space of time is of no little profit to the soul which is giving itself to spiritual exercises; rather in great manner it purifies and cleanses such a soul, separating it much from all appearance of sin: according to that saying of Gregory: It belongs to good minds to see a fault where there is no fault.

Fourth Note. The fourth: The enemy looks much if a soul is gross or delicate, and if it is delicate, he tries to make it more delicate in the extreme, to disturb and embarrass it more. For instance, if he sees that a soul does not consent to either mortal sin or venial or any appearance of deliberate sin, then the enemy, when he cannot make it fall into a thing that appears sin, aims at making it make out sin where there is not sin, as in a word or very small thought.

If the soul is gross, the enemy tries to make it more gross; for instance, if before it made no account of venial sins, he will try to have it make little account of mortal sins, and if before it made some account, he will try to have it now make much less or none.

Fifth Note. The fifth: The soul which desires to benefit itself in the spiritual life, ought always to proceed the contrary way to what the enemy proceeds; that is to say, if the enemy wants to make the soul gross, let it aim at making it self delicate. Likewise, if the enemy tries to draw it out to extreme fineness, let the soul try to establish itself in the mean, in order to quiet itself in everything.

Sixth Note. The sixth: When such good soul wants to speak or do something within the Church, within the understanding of our Superiors, and which should be for the glory of God our Lord, and there comes to him a thought or temptation from without that he should neither say nor do that thing -- bringing to him apparent reasons of vanity or of another thing, etc., -- then he ought to raise his understanding to his Creator and Lord, and if he sees that it is His due service, or at the least not contrary to it, he ought to act diametrically against such temptation, according to St. Bernard, answering the same: Neither for thee did I begin, nor for thee will I stop.
